HARVARD AND M.I.T. LEADERSHIP CAMP

Is your child's dream to study at Harvard or M.I.T.? Is your child looking for the skills to set them apart from the competition? Do you want your child to impress the university selection committees with their leadership, public speaking abilities and experiences? Then Prosperity Education Route's Harvard and M.I.T. Leadership Camp is a perfect fit for your child! This camp is a high caliber camp that drills the students on leadership and public speaking. It was created by Michael and Terri Liechty in 1997 when they taught these classes for the first time to Harvard and M.I.T. students. They have perfected the classes over the years and now they want to teach your child their secrets to becoming well-rounded, high-achieving, global leaders!

This camp is held in Cambridge, Massachusetts, home of two of the most world-famous universities: Harvard and M.I.T. Your child will spend many hours on these campuses and participate in enriched learning from the best of what the campuses have to offer. All of the activities and tours have been carefully selected to be an extension of the classroom learning; an outdoor "laboratory" of sorts to practice what was taught in the classroom.

Our Leadership Camp is designed to develop global leaders and equip them with the tools for success at any Ivy League University as well as at home and in the workplace. One of the many benefits of our camp is the small size. This allows the Liechty's, the course instructors, tour guides, camp directors and curriculum creators, to get to know your child on a deeper level and to identify the needs of your child and meet them through personalized instruction and feedback. You will only find this high-quality camp with top-notch educators at Prosperity Education Route. Don't miss out on this incredible opportunity to see Harvard and M.I.T. like you've never seen before. Sign up today!

ITINERARY

Sunday, Day 1: Arrive at Boston's Logan International Airport in the afternoon and be taken to your accommodations. The check-in time is 4:00 PM. After settling in, you'll spend time meeting the Liechty's and your new classmates during a special welcome dinner. After dinner, you will get to know each other better by playing American-style games.

Monday, Day 2: Get a great night's sleep because today you will begin camp at Harvard University. Harvard, established in 1636, is the oldest institution of higher learning in the United States. Harvard is frequently ranked number 1 among all universities in the US and has maintained the reputation excellence in all they do. Today, you will begin your studies in Leadership by learning how to create a vision and how to be the best YOU! After lunch, you will then take a walking tour of the prestigious University and learn about its rich history and customs. Your day will end with a family-style dinner and more evening activities with some of the locals.

Tuesday, Day 3: During today's classes, you will perfect your public speaking skills by learning how to make an impression that will last and how to rally your people together as a leader. After lunch, you will take a super cool "Duck" tour. An amphibious World War II truck will drive you around on both land and sea to see all the top attractions that Boston has to offer. You will dine out on the town and then return home for more American-style games with some locals.

Wednesday, Day 4: Today's topics are why dress and grooming matters when speaking in public and how to train your followers. After lunch, you will attend a lecture on Leadership at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, better known at M.I.T. This prestigious university consistently ranks in the top 5 universities in the United States and prides itself on producing students who shape the world as we know it through their research findings and inventions. The cap of the day will be a family-style dinner and evening activities.

Thursday, Day 5: In today's classes you will learn the art of the greeting and how to define what is needed and what is wanted as a leader. After lunch, you will tour Harvard's most visited attraction, the Natural History Museum. This museum is home to items from all over the world. One is sure to catch your attention! Your day will end with a delicious dinner and time to relax with your friends.

HARVARD & M.I.T. LEADERSHIP CAMP | THE PROSPEROUS LIVING SERIES

Friday, Day 6: Your day will begin by learning about the International Standards of table manners. You will also learn how leaders empower their teams. Today, you will enjoy lunch at the famous Harvard Square! This bustling area of Cambridge is known for its delectable eats, unique shopping experience, and exciting atmosphere. You will surely find one-of-a-kind souvenirs at Harvard Square! After dinner, you will want to retire early to be ready for your Saturday morning class.

Saturday, Day 7: Saturday morning's class might be one of the most important public speaking lessons in your life, "What to say so that people wanted to see you again". Followed by a leadership class on how to receive support from all sides. In the afternoon, you will visit Harvard Medical School, currently ranked number #1 in research, pediatrics, psychiatry, surgery, and many more! The HMS is located across the Charles River in Boston and near, Fenway Park, home of the famous Boston Red Socks!

Sunday, Day 8: There are no formal classes today, but that doesn't mean the learning stops. You will get the opportunity to experience and observe a typical American religious service in the morning. Your afternoon will be filled by walking the "Freedom Trail". The "Freedom Trail" is a trail of 2.5 miles connecting all of Boston's monumental historical sites that helped birth the Nation we know as the United States of America. You will follow the steps of America's Founding Fathers. After a sumptuous dinner, you will return home to prepare for the upcoming week.

Monday, Day 9: Monday morning's public speaking classes will teach you how to use "power words" to describe your strengths and how to hold your people accountable for the tasks assigned to them. After lunch, you will tour M.I.T.'s beautiful campus with a picturesque view of the Charles River. You will have an American-style dinner and spend an evening practicing the leadership skills and public speaking that you have been acquiring all week.

Tuesday, Day 10: Your public speaking class today will teach you the secrets to having a great job interview. Your leadership class will teach you how to reward followers. After lunch, you will visit the Fogg Art Museum. This Harvard museum is home to hundreds of thousands of works of art from the Middle Ages to Present Day. Discuss with your peers over dinner what you are learning and how you will apply your new skills.

Wednesday, Day 11: Today's classes are sure to pique your interest as you learn to do a 10-day public speaking experiment and how to manage your time more effectively. As a leader, you must learn how to accept responsibility for yours and your team's actions. Today's class will teach you how to accept responsibility with grace and ease. After lunch, you will be entreated by a leisurely bike tour along the majestic Charles River. This is the best way to see the River on a personal level. After dinner, you will be ready for a great night's sleep!

Thursday, Day 12: You will learn how to make someone else REALLY like you in today's public speaking class. You will also learn how to be open and flexible as a leader. We've saved one of the best for last! You will spend time at Boston's Quincy Market and the Waterfront! Here you'll find a food for any palate, high-end shops, and an endless array of attractions. You haven't truly visited Boston until you've visited the Boston Waterfront! After dinner, you'll have a fun evening playing American games with some locals.

Friday, Day 13: The final day of class will be a culmination of everything that you have learned over the course of two weeks. The final topics will be why detective work matters and trust and loyalty. You'll spend your final afternoon taking pictures at beloved sites in Cambridge, Massachusetts, home of both Harvard and M.I.T. Then you will attend a very special awards dinner where you will receive your certificate of completion. The rest of the evening will be free for you to say good-byes and to pack up your belongings.

Saturday, Day 14: Now, that you have completed two weeks of leadership, public speaking, culture and manners classes you can leave for home better prepared to conquer the challenges that lie ahead of you. Be sure to tell your friends about your unforgettable experience and share with them some of the topics that you learned. You'll be glad you did!

Lieutenant Colonel Michael Liechty, MA has had a lifetime of education and experience in the study of human behavior. His formal education includes a Bachelor's Degree in Psychology and a Master's Degree of Education in Counseling.

As an officer in the United States Air Force he served as Professor of Aerospace Studies at MIT where he taught Leadership to Harvard and MIT students.

Additionally, he was the Chief of Social Actions at Travis Air Force Base in California where he was responsible for resolving complaints of sexual harassment and discrimination.

Colonel Liechty has been a Field Training Officer at summer camps preparing college student officer candidates for the rigors of officership in the United States Air Force.

For over ten years Colonel Liechty has taught leadership, character building and citizenship to hundreds of high school and college students on the east coast, the Midwest and the Mountain West of America.

Recently Colonel Liechty and his wife conducted a camp focused on developing resilience and grit to young men in preparation for charity service, professional work, and marriage. While living in Norway, Colonel Liechty and his wife started a young adult program to assist and prepare young people for success in their relationships, education, work, marriage, and life.

Prior to his military career, Colonel Liechty ran his own construction business where he taught young men the skill and value of manual labor.

He has contributed decades of service to his church – in particular to the youth programs and religious instruction. Additionally, Colonel Liechty has given years of volunteer service as a coach of sports programs in the community and the high school.

Colonel Liechty and his wife Terri have been married for 42 years and have raised seven highly successful children who have all been to college and are valuable contributors to society, their communities, country and the world – but most importantly, they are leaders of their own families raising their own future highly successful children.
